MAUI CONTRACTOR COMES BACK AT LOCAL MEN CONFERENCE ON WOOL BILL SUCCESS

Transport Offered $2,000 Men On Loot To Pull Bids, Says Patterson

Breaking into boxcars, smashing boxes of pineapples and stealing the fruit not only from the cars but from the canneries, scores of soldiers from the transport Sherman, en route to Manila, held high carnival at Iwilei yesterday, last night and this morning. So serious did their depredations become that finally complaint was lodged not only with the local police, but with the U. S. Army Headquarters here and with the commanding officer of the big troopship.

It was stated this morning at the canneries that not less than two carloads of pineapples, a number of tons, have been carried off during the last two days. Together with their thefts, the soldiers held forth in such lawless manner that last night watchmen at the canneries who attempted to remonstrate and drive the soldiers away were threatened and scared into submission.

The depredations of the soldiers at the canneries are said to be the worst exhibition of irresponsibility and destruction seen here in years. The thefts began yesterday morning. Some soldiers strolling through the cannery district, apparently under the influence of liquor, found some boxes of pines on a car and proceeded to help themselves. From that time on until this morning the soldiers came in increasing numbers. This morning at nine o'clock there were not less than a hundred in the vicinity of the canneries, the majority of them carrying stolen fruit.

Two Companies Suffer.
Both the Hawaiian Pineapple Company and the Hawaii Preserving Company suffered severe losses. Besides the loss of the fruit, there were many boxes broken open and smashed, apparently in pure recklessness.

NEWS RECEIVED OF DEATH OF H. RENJES

News was received here today of the death of Heinrich Renjes, former Honolulu and prominent in business in the Territory, at Wiesbaden, Germany. The death was entirely unexpected, and it is believed that it was due to heart failure.

Mr. Renjes was a partner in the firm of E. A. Schaefer & Co. He retired ten years ago and went back to Germany to reside. He had lived in Honolulu since 1875 and was very well known throughout the Territory. Recently he had made a trip to Japan and back on the same steamer, the second trip of the kind he had attempted. He was fifty-six years of age.

Mr. Renjes married Miss Coney of Kauai, a sister of Representative J. H. Coney, and the widow and one daughter, Miss Elsie Renjes, survive him. They are both in Wiesbaden. Coney is now in Honolulu, having come down last Friday from his home on Kauai, and received here the news of his brother-in-law's death.

Many cablegrams and messages of condolence follow the receipt of the news here, as Mr. Renjes had many friends in the islands, although he had been away for a number of years.

DANCE AT SEASIDE

There will be a dance at the Seaside Hotel tomorrow, Tuesday, evening. The public is cordially invited.

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)

WAILUKU, Aug. 12.—W. R. Patterson, the Wailuku contractor who was the successful bidder in securing the two contract, the Maliko road extension and nine bridges in Hana district, has everything in readiness and will soon start on his Maliko road contract.

The Maui Loan Commission has not yet awarded the Hana district contract. It is understood that Chairman Campbell wrote to the members of the Commission here to defer action on the Hana bid.

Another letter has been received relative to the same contract, but the Commission has not met yet to approve or disapprove of Chairman

Campbell's recommendations. There is only $78,000 available on these contracts and as Mr. Patterson's two bids aggregate over $8,000, the Commission cannot see its way clear to accept both bids, so only one bid has been approved.

As regards the howl raised by the Honolulu contractors on the result of the bids, Mr. Patterson has informed the members of the Commission that he was offered, by a Honolulu contractor, $1,000 for each contract to stay out and not file any bids, and that even after the opening of the bids he was again offered another $1,000 to withdraw his bid. This is his reply to the charge of favoritism that has been heaped upon him by his friends in the profession.

HARBOR COMMISSION WON'T RISK LEGAL COMPLICATIONS; $30,000 FOR REPAIR WORK

Fearing that the legality of its acts might be called into question by Washington, the harbor commission has decided quietly not to use any of its $300,000 funds for repair work during the next two years, but to confine its repairs within the $30,000 it is allowed by the last legislature for this specific purpose.

This means that the Hackfeld wharf will be repaired, and a good job made of it, too, but that practically no other repair work will be done in the Territory for the biennial period just begun.

Whether such repair work as paying an existing wharf with obla blocks could be paid for out of the $300,000 allowed it as a construction fund was a question that the commission put up to the attorney-general and the attorney-general handed back to the commission without settling it. He told the commission it might use its discretion, and doing this, the commission has decided not to take any chances. It is understood that a questionable use of the bond issue money might be checked sharply at Washington.

Secretary Berndt of the commission said this morning that about $10,000 is all that will be available for repair work on the wharves of the Territory for the next two years after the

LANGUAGE BILL CAMPAIGN ISSUE?

William J. Sheldon, the genial Kauai good fight for it that it passed the man who is a veteran of the lower house of the Legislature and ranked as one of its leaders last session, is in Honolulu on a business trip. Sheldon, who expects to see it become a law, nurtured a well-developed idea of leaving Kauai a few months ago and locating in Hilo, but the Kauai folks didn't want him to go and he has taken advantage of an excellent business opportunity to stay. He says he will be back in the House at the next session unless something mighty unexpected happens.

Sheldon was the man who introduced the bill at the last session calling for the teaching of the Hawaiian language in the public schools, and he made such see it become a law."

FREAR TO DISCUSS FREE GARBAGE

Steps looking toward the establishment of a free garbage collection system in the city of Honolulu will be taken jointly by a committee from the central improvement committee and the Governor.

President E. A. Berndt of the improvement committee has made arrangements for a conference between the committee and the Governor early this week. The committee has been working on the free garbage collection proposition ever since Clean-Up Day, a result of which recommendations were made that the free system be established.

Governor Frear has also been taking the matter up and the attorney-general, it is stated, has been investigating its legal phases. The Governor, said Mr. Berndt this morning, has been able to formulate some definite ideas on a free garbage system within the past few days, having sequestered himself at Kauai, and it is expected that the conference will develop some adequate plan of handling Honolulu's serious garbage collection and distribution problems.

Leading Figures In Fight To Take Veto From Lords

FAIR PLANS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

With the controversy over the site settled by a compromise that pleases both sides, San Francisco is getting down to work in a hurry on plans for the big 1915 exposition, according to the latest news from the mainland. Preparations are already under way for the ground-breaking ceremonies.

The San Francisco Examiner of August 5 printed the following news of much interest here, showing the rapid work that is going on:

It is hoped that the President of the United States may come to San Francisco early in November and attend the ground-breaking ceremonies of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Taft is due to journey westward in the fall and is scheduled to reach Nebraska October 26th; and from advice received by the World's Fair directors there is reason to believe that he may be induced to extend his journey westward so as to take part in a function which will be of the greatest national interest.

It will surely be a feather in San Francisco's cap if the nation's chief executive consents to honor with the presence the eventful occasion when the first soil will be turned on the site of the greatest enterprise in the history of the West.

At a meeting of the World's Fair directors yesterday it was decided not only to send a formal invitation to President Taft, but to make the greatest possible efforts to secure his acceptance of it.

Advisory Architects Named.

At yesterday's meeting of the board of directors the following architects of this city were appointed members of the preliminary architectural committee, which will advise the board of directors and its committees as to architectural procedure in planning the structures for the World's later, national 1915 Exposition:

William Curlett, John Galen Howard, Albert Pissis, Willis Park, Clarence H. Ward.

The Macgregor building, a class A structure, Pine and Battery streets, has been selected as the official headquarters of the Exposition Company. Within a few weeks the present headquarters of the company in the Merchants' Exchange building will be vacated for the new location. The entire Macgregor building will be utilized for exposition purposes.

NEW KAUAI LAND FOR HOMESTEADS

Although he went to Kauai for a vacation, Governor Frear kept one eye open on the homesteading proposition, and this morning stated that everything was moving along nicely.

There is some more land to be thrown open in the near future and also the drawing for the special selection has been advertised. There will in all probability also be another lot set aside for a new settlement association that is to be formed.

The lots are at Omao and Lawai, on Kauai.

Judge Robertson has approved of the bond of John F. Colburn and Jonah K. Kahanamoku for $1500 in the case of the appeal of the Kapiohale Estate against the Territory by Marston Campbell.

BELT ROAD PLAN IS APPROVED

Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell approved the plans for the alignment and location of the belt road on Saturday last. City Engineer Gere has made a good job of the plans and they show every little detail.

"This is just the difference between plans made by an engineer and a surveyor," remarked Campbell at the time. "They are a fine set of plans and Gere deserves great credit for the way he has worked them out."

Gere stated this morning that he was ready now and that it was up to the board of road commissioners as to when the work would be started.

Etta B. Phillips was granted a divorce this morning from John Phillips on the grounds of non-support.

Mott-Smith Pulls For Pratt?

Rumor was busy this morning with the name of Health Officer Pratt for the position of president of the Board of Health, and from information received from a reliable source it is believed that he is the one for the position and that the announcement will be made at any time now. Governor Frear, who came back from Kauai yesterday, where he has been spending a few days' vacation, stated this morning that he had seen several people in connection with the matter, but that he had not yet made any appointments.

It has been understood right along that the man President Mott-Smith endorsed would be the man to whom the Governor would probably look to fill the position. Mr. Mott-Smith had a long talk with the Governor this morning, at which it is believed the subject was brought up, and also that he urged Dr. Pratt as the next president. He has a great opinion of the capabilities of his lieutenant and thinks that he is the man suited for the position.

It is understood that Dr. W. C. Hobdy, whose name was also mentioned for the job, has refused to consider the position and will continue with his private practice. Although the Governor has not yet made any definite appointment, it is thought that he will in all probability name the new man either today or tomorrow.

Another appointment expected soon is that of J. Edgar Higgins for the position of field agent under the new marketing scheme on which Expert Starratt reported so favorably some little time ago. He had an interview with the Governor this morning, and the announcement of this in confirmation of the already published reports expected at the same time as that of Dr. Pratt as the new president of the Board of Health.

MOTT-SMITH PRAISES THE BISHOP ESTATE METHODS

"This is my last day, I hope, as president of the board of health," remarked E. A. Mott-Smith this morning. "I feel sorry in one way to be going for we have put through some strenuous fights since I have been in office and there has been a big field

GUBERNATORIAL BUG IS BUSY ON KAUAI

According to news from Kauai, E. A. Knudsen, president of the Senate of the last session, is cherishing a vigorous young gubernatorial bug. It is said on good authority that Knudsen has intimated that the shoes that will be vacant when Governor Frear steps out of office are just about the size to fit a pair of Knudsen's feet, and that said pair of feet are attached to the person of Knudsen. Incidentally, it is remarked that Knudsen would find considerable support in his ambitions.

Governor Frear spent part of his visit to Kauai at the mountain home of the Senate president. This, however, is not taken as any indication that the chief executive was handing out tips to Knudsen on how to run the government in case he should suddenly be called upon to grab the reins of state, as Frear has already announced his candidacy to succeed himself.

Senator George H. Fairchild seems to have more general support among Kauai people than any other candidate, according to political wiseacres.
